

2016 HIGH-LEVEL MEETING
ON ENDING AIDS

UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY
NEW YORK | 8–10 JUNE 2016

2016 HIGH-LEVEL MEETING ON ENDING AIDS

2016 High-Level Meeting on Ending AIDS

What's at stake?

- Member States committed to ending AIDS by 2030 as part of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).
- The 2016 High-Level Meeting on Ending AIDS has the power to deliver and Fast-Track the response.
- Failure to do so risks a rebound in the epidemic.
- Never a greater opportunity to accelerate the response:
 - New SDG agenda
 - Innovative solutions
 - Scientific advances
 - Renewed leadership, strong political commitment

2016 High-Level Meeting on Ending AIDS

Why now?

- If the current level of HIV service is simply maintained, we will see a rebound in the epidemic.
- Reaching the 2030 ambition requires countries to take a Fast-Track approach over the next five years.
- 2016 Political Declaration is an opportunity to establish far-reaching people-centred goals and targets that must be met by 2020 if we are to end the AIDS epidemic by 2030. This means:
 - Fewer than 500 000 people newly infected with HIV
 - Fewer than 500 000 people dying from AIDS-related illnesses
 - Elimination of HIV-related discrimination

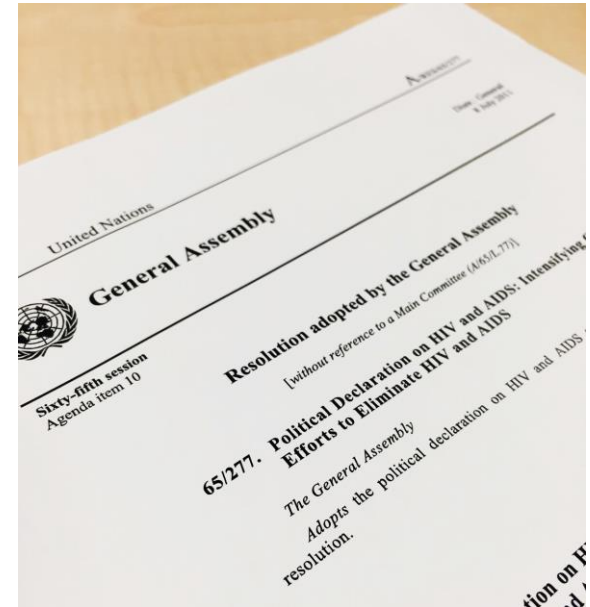

2016 High-Level Meeting on Ending AIDS

What is success from UNAIDS' perspective?

A transformational Political Declaration would require that the international community commits to:

1. Front load and increase investments by at least 30 Billion USD to Fast-Track the AIDS response;
2. Ambitious quantitative global targets that can be disaggregated by region, population and gender;
3. Guarantee access to services for all, in particular in fragile communities;
4. Strengthen people-centred systems for health;
5. A strong and efficient global partnership;
6. Effective accountability; and
7. Recognize and utilize the model of the AIDS response to support results for the SDGs.
